Take it to the top.
A recent major newspaper study shows that the News/Sun-Sentinel is the second fastest growing newspaper in the nation. Again. Unlike the ups and downs of other newspapers, the News/Sun-Sentinel has maintained its #2 position for two reporting periods in a row. Which shows consistency in performance. And that's what being #1 is all about.

A TESTIMONIAL

John Love, in his book about McDonald's, says: "Even after McDonald's had built one of the retailing industry's most sophisticated real estate departments, Kroc (founder of McDonald's) regularly contributed suggestions on new sites. The Editor & Publisher Market Guide, an inch-thick directory listing all newspapers in the United States and describing the population and commerce of the towns in which they are located, was Kroc's constant reading companion. All marketers use the guide in locating new outlets, but few knew it more intimately than Kroc. Copies of it were kept on his Gulfstream jet, and Kroc quickly turned to it if he spotted from the air a small town that looked like a good site for a McDonald's. Even in the founder's late seventies, long after he had turned over the reins of the company to Turner, the E&P Guide was Kroc's evening reader. 'Ray practically slept with that thing,' notes Wilburn H. Sutherland, McDonald's real estate vice president. And when Kroc spotted a town that might support a new McDonald's, he was on the phone the next day to Sutherland asking him to investigate the site."

We are very proud of this unexpected "testimonial." Publishers, like teachers, get a great deal of satisfaction from knowing they have contributed to someone's success.

This 1987 edition of the Market Guide marks the 63rd year in which Editor & Publisher has published an annual compilation of marketing information for every city or community in the United States and Canada — more than 1,500 — where a daily newspaper is published.

Since the first edition was published in 1924, Market Guide editors have kept pace with the changing requirements of marketers by adding and refining data as surveys and discussions with users have indicated a need for additions and changes.

Users of this edition will find its contents are accurate, up-to-date and a reliable source of data and statistics that can be integrated into any marketing program with confidence. The individual 14-point market surveys, the heart of the Market Guide, provide users with unduplicated information gathered by our staff from many sources, including the daily newspapers.

Additional information about any of the markets listed may be obtained by contacting the newspaper or newspapers listed in item 14 of each market survey.

We welcome any suggestions for improvements or additions that will make future Market Guides more useful.

ERRATA

Dear Market Guide User:

Just prior to distribution we discovered a series of errors in the Retail Sales Estimates for the U.S.

We pride ourselves on our accuracy — which, over the years, our readers have come to expect. We therefore went back to the presses and reprinted Sections I and IV.

However, the revisions also needed to be reflected in the Retail Sales Estimates survey which precedes each state in Section II. To avoid an even greater delay, we decided to print this errata.

We suggest that you make a photocopy of this page and paste the revised figures onto each survey.

Our sincerest apologies for this inconvenience.

How to use the 1987 Editor & Publisher Market Guide

The data in this MARKET GUIDE is presented in four sections:

I — Market Ranking Tables

These tables show, ranked by size according to E&P estimates for 1987, the population, disposable income, total retail sales, total food sales, and income per household of all MSAs, PMSAs and larger counties and cities of the U.S.A.

II — Individual Market Surveys—United States

Facts and figures about all United States daily newspaper markets, listed alphabetically by state and city in the U.S.A., followed by Puerto Rico. The sample survey below shows the information included, and how the data is generally shown. A state map introduces surveys for each state, showing MSAs, PMSAs, CMSAs, county boundaries, location of all daily newspaper cities, and county-seat cities without daily newspapers.

III — Individual Market Surveys—Canada

Facts and figures about all Canadian daily newspaper markets. The map of Canada shows national and provincial capitals, and location of all daily newspaper cities.

IV — Sales, Population and Income Tables

E&P 1987 retail sales estimates, total, and in nine categories, with number of stores in each, for all MSAs or PMSAs, U.S. counties and daily newspaper cities. Tables are arranged alphabetically by state (by province in Canada), followed by tables of estimated 1987 population, personal income — total, per capita and per household; also number of farms and value of crops and livestock.

DEFINITIONS AND NOTES

ABC—Adjacent to certain population figures and newspaper circulations in the surveys in this book are references to the Audit Bureau of Circulations. The ABC issues standardized statements of the circulation of publisher members, verifies the figures shown in these statements by auditor's examination and disseminates the circulation data to advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers.

Each publisher's statement and audit report issued to members covers the quantity, quality, distribution of circulation and circulation methods.

ADVERTISING & MERCHANDISING DATA—The daily newspaper is the prime source of information on local conditions in each of the newspaper market areas. The name, address and telephone number of people able to supply more information about these areas appear in paragraph 14 of each survey.

CIRCULATION FIGURES—The March 1986 figures appear in most of the surveys. Where March 1986 figures are not available, proper notation is made. Also indicated with the figure is whether the circulation is verified by ABC (Audit Bureau of Circulations), VAC (Verified Audit Circulation), CAC (Certified Audit of Circulations), or CPVS (Community Papers Verification Service) or comes from a sworn statement by the publisher of the newspaper.

CITY ZONE (CZ)—The corporate limits of the city in which the newspaper is published, plus in some cases, the contiguous areas built up adjacent to or surrounding the city of publication. This could also include more than one city, where the areas involved are contiguous areas.

CONSOLIDATED METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA (CMSA)—The larger geographical area of which Primary Metropolitan Statistical Areas are components. CMSA's are designated and defined by the Office of Federal Statistical Policy and Standards, U.S. Department of Commerce. A complete list of these areas appears on the following pages.

CONSUMER SPENDABLE INCOME—See "Disposable Personal Income" below.

DISPOSABLE PERSONAL INCOME—Sometimes referred to as "Effective Buying Income" or "Consumer Spendable Income," is equal to current income received individuals, unincorporated business and non-profit institutions, from all sources. It includes all that is received as wages, salaries and commissions, including pensions, trust and welfare funds, labor, farm, non-farm, professional, rental, dividends, personal interest and transfer payments after taxes.

The amounts usually deducted for income, property, and other taxes not deductible as business expenses, as well as other general government revenues, such as fines, penalties, and so on, have been subtracted.

EFFECTIVE BUYING INCOME—See "Disposable Personal Income" above.

ESTIMATES—Figures on which estimates are based are always U.S. Government figures (U.S. Census) or in Canada, the latest available Census figures from Statistics Canada. Any other figures are either identified as to source or are considered "local estimates."

FARM DATA—County Data: The figures used in these tables for the counties are the latest released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The most recent agriculture census was made in 1982.

State Data: State totals of crops and livestock are released annually by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. State totals used in these tables are from the most recent USDA Statistical Bulletin. Footnotes at the bottom of each table show the year and source of data.

HOUSEHOLDS—Not to be confused with "families." The term "household" corresponds to "private dwelling unit" as defined in the Census Bureau's current operations, which would include all persons occupying a house or an apartment together.

INCOME PER HOUSEHOLD (DISPOSABLE INCOME)—The total average income earned or received by each household with direct or indirect taxes deducted.

METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA (MSA)—A large population nucleus with adjacent communities which have a high degree of economic and social integration within that nucleus. Metropolitan Statistical Areas are designated and defined by the Office of Federal Statistical Policy and Standards, U.S. Department of Commerce. A complete list of these areas, with explanation of the standards applied to their designation, appears in the following pages.

NEIGHBORHOOD SHOPPING AREA (OR DISTRICT)—Indicates specific street locations of active retail trade.

NEWSPAPER DESIGNATED MARKET (NDM)—The geographical area which a newspaper considers to be the market it serves. Publisher members have the option of reporting circulation according to just the new NDM or in combination with a City Zone and/or Retail Trading Zone figure.

PASSENGER AUTOS—These figures are obtained from the various state departments of motor vehicles, where available, and generally on a county basis. However, in some states, no county breakdown is available. Motor vehicle figures in Canada are obtained from the Transportation and Communications Division of Statistics Canada.

PERSONAL INCOME—See "Disposable Personal Income" above.

PRIMARY METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA (PMSA)—A Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA) of more than 1 million population which meets additional social and economic requirements and, together with one or more other PMSAs, forms a Consolidated Metropolitan Statistical Area (CMSA). For more information, see explanation on following pages.

RETAIL SALES ESTIMATE TABLES—Based upon the lastest available (1982) U.S. Department of Commerce Census of Retail Sales, brought up-to-date, with considerations given to conditions and developments since the Census figures were collected.

Sales and "Kinds of Retail Stores" (as well as estimates) are reported as in the Bureau of Census reports, by type of store in which the sales are made (using the Standard Industrial Classification Manual codes and descriptions, all listed in this volume) rather than by the products sold. For example, many non-food items are sold in food stores.

The sum of the nine types of stores will not add up to the total of retail sales estimates for each area since there is also a miscellaneous classification of stores not included in these tables.

In some areas (cities or counties), retail sales per household exceed the figures shown for total income per household. This is because of the influence or attraction an area may have on the shopping patterns or habits of those who live adjacent to or outside it.

RETAIL TRADING ZONE (RTZ)—The area beyond the City Zone whose residents regularly trade to an important degree with the retail merchants in the City Zone. In establishing the boundaries of the RTZ, consideration is given to the transportation facilities, traffic flow, traveling time and schedules by both public facilites, private cars and common carriers; as well as charge accounts, phone orders and regular delivery service from the central or City Zone to the outlying areas.

SHOPPING CENTER—The term is intended to apply to developments with a number and a variety of stores, including chains, supermarkets or banks, with extensive parking facilities, and located on or near a main highway.

STATISTICS CANADA—Canadian Government agency in Ottawa reponsible for all official statistics covering population, retail sales, etc.

STORES—Stores are typed according to the definition of the 1982 U.S. Census of Business (Retail Trade) which use the Standard Industrial Classification Manual codes and descriptions.

SUPERMARKET—This term involves these three conditions: annual sales volume of at least $1 million; four departments — dairy, meat, produce and groceries; and a grocery department that is entirely self-service.

RETAIL SALES ESTIMATES

The basis for kind-of-business classifications used in the Editor & Publisher Market Guide is the same as that used by the U.S. Department of Commerce in the Census of Retail Trade. This follows the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) Manual (Executive Office of the President, Office of Management and Budget, Standard Industrial Classification Manual, 1972.)

The 1982 Census of Retail Sales conducted by the U.S. Department of Commerce was a gigantic task and required considerable time for evaluation and tabulation. The 1982 Census is the basis for the Retail Sales Estimates included in the 1987 edition. However, strict comparison of the data for both the 1977 and 1982 census is limited by the following factors:

Geographic boundaries of a number of areas for which data are shown in the 1982 census are not the same as in the 1977 census because of annexations, other boundary changes, redefinitions of SMSA's, and changes in qualifying criteria since 1977. For 1982, data for census-defined, unincorporated places are no longer shown separately but are included as part of the "remainder of county" statistics.

In the 1977 census, and prior to that, the combined data for all establishments were presented for selected kind-of-business classifications, including all 2-digit major industry groups. For these, data for nonemployer firms were obtained from administrative records of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) based on business tax returns. For 1982, data for nonemployers and combined data for all establishments are presented only at the retail trade total level for all geographic areas.

For your quick reference, we provide a complete list of the major group classifications of stores included in the Tables of Estimated Retail Sales in Section IV; the Miscellaneous Retail Stores category in this list is not included in the Tables. Numbers following names are SIC codes; PT following the SIC codes refers to "part"; n.e.c. refers to "not elsewhere classified."

METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREAS
(MSAs, PMSAs and CMSAs)

METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA defintions, which replaced the familiar Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA) on June 30, 1983, were first developed and issued in the late 1940s. Their major purpose was to enable all federal statistical agencies to use consistent geographic definitions in the study of metropolitan characteristics. These definitions made it possible to compare more accurately population, housing, employment, trade and industry statistics. State and local governments, as well as the private sector, soon found these definitions most useful.

Metropolitan Statistical Areas are defined according to a set of detailed standards prepared by the Federal Committee on MSAs which advises the Office of Management and Budget. These standards are periodically reviewed in connection with each Decennial Census of Population.

In June 1983, the Committee released the results of a comprehensive review; this contained revisions in the criteria for designating MSAs, as well as new concepts in titling and classifying them. The old Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA) was shortened to Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA). If an area has more than 1 million population and meets certain other specified requirements, it is termed a Consolidated Metropolitan Statistical Area (CMSA), which consists of major components classified as Primary Metropolitan Statistical Areas (PMSA).

The general concept underlying the MSA is that of a geographic area consisting of a large population nucleus together with adjacent communities which have a high degree of economic and social integration with that nucleus.

An MSA includes one city of at least 50,000 or more inhabitants or an urbanized area of at least 50,000 with total metropolitan population of at least 100,000. MSAs are defined in terms of entire counties; each MSA has one or more central counties, containing the area's main population concentration. In addition to the county (or counties) containing the main city (or cities), an MSA may also include outlying counties which have close economic and social relationships with the central counties. Such counties must meet certain standards regarding "metropolitan character," such as population density, and must have a specified level of commuting to the central county(ies). For example, counties with a commuting rate of 50 percent or more must have a population density of at least 25 persons per square mile. When the commuting rate is lower than this, the density requirement proportionately increases.

In the six New England states, however, MSAs are defined in terms of cities and towns rather than entire counties. Because smaller areas are used, the total MSA population requirement is reduced from 100,000 to 75,000.

The official title of an MSA always includes the state or states into which it extends and the name of the largest city in that MSA. It might include several cities — as many as three — all dependant upon relative and minimum populations of the central city and other cities in the MSA. When more than one city appears in the MSA title, they are usually ordered by their relative populations.

In total, there are 265 recognized MSAs and 21 CMSAs, consisting of 73 PMSAs. Most MSA definitions are not subject to change until after the next national census. However, a few new MSAs may be added each year, usually because additional cities have reached the 50,000 population level according to official population estimates.

An area with more than 1 million population may be defined as a PRIMARY METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA. A PMSA is a large urbanized county or a cluster of counties that exhibit very strong social and economic links. Local opinion, obtained through Congressional delegation, is also a very strong factor in determining if an area will be designated a PMSA. The specific standards for defining PMSAs are as follows:

1. The area must include at least one county that has a population of more than 100,000;
2. At least 60 percent of this county's population must be classified as urban;
3. Less than 50 percent of its workers commute to jobs outside of the county.

The larger area of which all PMSAs are component parts is defined as a CONSOLIDATED METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA.

The complete criteria used in defining metropolitan statistical areas can be obtained directly fom the Office of Federal Statistical Policy and Standards, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230.

EDITOR & PUBLISHER'S MARKET RANKINGS

This year Editor & Publisher has once again compiled market-ranking tables to help advertising and marketing executives plan programs for the coming year.

These tables have been a feature of the E&P Market Guide since they first appeared in the 1964 edition. The rankings, based on E&P estimates for 1987, are shown for five categories: population, disposable personal income, total retail sales, food sales and income per household.

Rankings are provided for all cities or communities in the United States in which newspapers are published on a daily basis, for all counties whether daily newspapers are published in them or not, and for all metropolitan statistical areas in the United States, as defined by the Office of Management and Budget.

The tables are tabulated by computer and are based on the 1980 U.S. Census and the 1982 Census of Business, and 1987 research estimates by the Marketing Economics Institute Ltd.

Leading U.S. cities, counties and metropolitan statistical areas ranked according to EDITOR & PUBLISHER estimates for 1987

Chicago Tribune leadership:

More than the Midwest's #1 in circulation!

For as long as most anyone can remember, the Chicago Tribune has been the Midwest's largest selling newspaper, daily and Sunday.

But Chicago Tribune leadership goes beyond the circulation numbers.

For advertisers, the Tribune is number one in delivering readers in virtually every desirable demographic group: income, education, home ownership...buying power!

For advertisers and readers, the Chicago Tribune is the Midwest's leader in newspaper color reproduction and usage.

It boasts the Midwest's largest financial reporting staff...the Midwest's biggest, best and most colorful Sports section...the country's only stand-alone color Books section...and an innovative new section targeted directly at today's women...and more innovations are coming by the day.

That's the kind of leadership readers and advertisers have come to expect from the Chicago Tribune. The circulation numbers simply reflect those expectations.

Reach The Unreachables.

The Young.
We deliver 53% of adults 18 to 34 with any daily issue.

The Affluent.
65% of our readers have a household income over $25,000.

The Educated.
48% of our readers are college-educated.

Forget everything you've ever heard about media imperatives, audience fragmentation, or the rise of the suburban daily. In Phoenix, the two metro dailies are still the most effective way to reach this rapidly-growing market—and virtually every important target group within it.

An average daily issue of The Arizona Republic/The Phoenix Gazette delivers more than six of every ten metro Phoenix adults—over 809,100 readers.

And whether you look at our audience psychographically, demographically, or geographically, you're getting excellent coverage in all those elusive target market groups that require specialized media in other markets.

Such broad-based penetration makes us unique among the nation's leading dailies. In fact, among the top twenty newspaper markets, we rank first in household coverage.

All of which proves that the hardest working medium in Phoenix just might be the easiest buy you'll ever make.

THE ARIZONA REPUBLIC/The Phoenix Gazette

When you buy us, you own Phoenix.

11 - TAP WATER: Water hardness ranges from 4.2-15.1 grains per gallon. The alkalinity also varies, ranging from 5.4-8.6 grains per gallon. The Owens River Aqueduct accounts for approximately 70% of the water supply and is moderately soft with 4.2 grains per gallon total hardness and slightly alkaline with 5.4 grains per gallon. Other water supplies include the Los Angeles Aqueduct, River Supply Conduit and various reservoirs.

12 - RETAILING: Principal Shopping Centers-Los Angeles is unique in that shopping centers are spread throughout the market and each represents a major shopping center for that area. Downtown Los Angeles thus represents one of many. It extends 8 blocks N & S from 1st St. to 9th St. & 7 blocks E & W from Spring St. to Figueroa. In discussing the retailing structure of Los Angeles, Orange County, which is part of the marketing area and part of the primary market or city and retail trading zone of Los Angeles metropolitan newspapers, becomes an integral part. All following figures are, therefore, for Los Angeles and Orange Counties.
Neighborhood Shopping Centers-In the Los Angeles Marketing Area there are 110 incorporated cities with their central shopping districts and community shopping centers. In addition there are 62 spacious regional centers, which include department stores, supermarkets, shops, restaurants and parking areas.
Principal Shopping Days-Dept.-Mon., Thur., Fri., Sat.; Food-Thur., Fri., Sat., Sun.

More Than Sun and Sand

Every sunny Florida market claims to be the answer to your dreams. But the truth is, it takes more than sun and sand to make a market with muscle.

The St. Petersburg, Tampa, Clearwater (SPTC) area has emerged as Florida's #1 metro in population, households and buying power. The purchasing strength of this area alone is projected to reach $31 billion dollars by 1989 according to the 1985 Sales & Marketing Management's Survey of Buying Power.

As the most popular and influential advertising media on the Suncoast, we can help you reach your goals in Florida's wealthiest market.

At the St. Petersburg Times and the Evening Independent, we've been promoting growth and building record-breaking sales in our community for more than 100 years. With Sunday Times circulation reaching 355,093* and weekday circulation for the Times and Independent topping 311,792*, the figures show that our papers are read by seven out of ten adults in Pinellas County everyday.

Call your Times and Independent sales representative today and let us show you how to build record-breaking sales on Florida's Suncoast.
